Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, and 7-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stoval (WO 99/04720) in view of Murphy et al (WO 00/29553). Stoval discloses a method of forming an opening in an annular fibrosis (see page 10, line 1 to page 11, line 12 and Figure 2), removing at least a portion of the nucleus pulposus (see supra), and grafting a cultured connective tissue construct to close the opening (see page 2, lines 10-18, page 3, lines 7-14, and page 4, lines 10-15). The layer of extracellular matrix as claimed is met by the layer of extracellular matrix material that is inherently present around the cultured cells of Stoval.

However, Stoval fails to clearly disclose using a bioremodelable construct in the method as claimed. Murphy teaches that it was known to make bioremodelable graft constructs without exogenous matrix components or synthetic members in the repair a variety of tissues; see pages 1-19 and claim 19 thereof and see the present specification and the paragraph bridging pages 5 and 6. Therefore, it is the Examiner's position that it would have been obvious to use the bioremodelable construct as the graft implant material of Stoval for the same reasons that Murphy uses the same.

With regard to the paragraph bridging pages 5 and 6 of the present specification, it is noted that MPEP 715 states:

Art Unit: 3738

"Where applicant has clearly admitted on the record that subject matter relied on in the reference is prior art. In this case, that subject matter may be used as a basis for rejecting his or her claims and may not be overcome by an affidavit or declaration under 37 CFR 1.131. In re Hellsund, 474 F.2d 1307, 177 USPQ 170 (CCPA 1973); In re Garfinkel, 437 F.2d 1000, 168 USPQ 659 (CCPA 1971); In re Blout, 333 F.2d 928, 142 USPQ 173 (CCPA 1964); In re Lopresti, 333 F.2d 932, 142 USPQ 177 (CCPA 1964)"

Regarding claim 3, since extracellular matrix is made of collagen, the same is present in the constructs of Stoval or Murphy.

Response to Arguments

Applicants' arguments filed January 20, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that there is no motivation to combine Stoval and Murphy. However, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Applicants assert that the bulk material of Murphy could not be injected because it would "obstruct the injection device." However, Applicants assume that the injection device has a particularly small opening or port. The Examiner asserts that it is within the skill level of the ordinary artisan to inject bulk materials by selecting an appropriate injection device capable of performing the function. Alternatively, it would have been obvious to insert the Stoval device, as modified by Murphy, by hand or with an instrument capable of inserting the device.

Applicants argue that there is no reasonable expectation for success because the Murphy device cannot be injected. However, the Examiner asserts that since the Stoval and Murphy devices are both from the same art, one would have a reasonable expectation of success. Furthermore, it is certainly within the skill level of an ordinary artisan to select an appropriate injection device.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Applicant should specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure, including the claims (MPEP 714.02 and 2163.06). Due to the procedure outlined in MPEP 2163.06 for interpreting claims, it is noted that other art may be applicable under 35 USC 102 or 35 USC 103(a) once the aforementioned issue(s) is/are addressed.

Applicant is respectfully requested to provide a list of all copending applications that set forth similar subject matter to the present claims. A copy of such copending
